Brintons

Project: Firekeepers Casino Hotel
Details: Axminster Tile & Broadloom

Brintons supplied Axminster tile and broadloom carpet throughout FireKeepers Casino Hotel, helping carry an interior narrative rooted in the culture and heritage of the Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi. Across the property, fire and water motifs, rich color and expressive pattern create a strong sense of place, with the flooring playing an integral role in connecting each space.

The fire-inspired narrative comes through in the guest room suites, where Brintons Axminster tile works alongside fiery orange hues, smoky tones and metallic accents to create a warm, refined atmosphere. This sense of energy continues into the High Limit Gaming & Lounge, where more carpet tile complements sophisticated metallic finishes and rich materials for a more elevated expression of the concept.

At Nibi Restaurant, meaning "flowing water," the story shifts from fire to water. Blue and aqua tones, fluid forms and organic textures shape an immersive dining environment adding pattern and texture underfoot.

In the guest corridors, where Brintons broadloom Axminster features an energetic pattern evocative of sparks and flame—a direct connection to the tribe's identity as the "Keepers of the Fire."

These installations demonstrate how Brintons can adapt across distinct hospitality environments while maintaining a cohesive design story throughout the property.
